WASN'T A WOMAN

Yet Forgot to Mail Several Very Important Letters

A prominent Court street lawyer several months ago wrote three important letters and addressed them to as many distinguished Eastern gentlemen.

As the days and weeks and months went by without a reply our Court street friend became somewhat piqued at their long continued silence and was about addressing other epistles more pointed than elegant in style.

Fortunately he had occasion to examine a garment he had laid aside and snugly encoined in the inside pocket he found his letters, having neglected to mail them.

Now if this had happened to a woman she would be charged with absent-mindedness, but in this case we will have attribute it to a mere oversight.

AFTER the Fourth of July the "harmless pistol" will join the lockjawless percussion cap.

EDITOR WYATT, late of The Ewing Inquirer, has fallen from his high estate. He is now promoting railroad excursions.

THERE's a Station on the C. and O. Railway called Willow Grove, for the reason, perhaps, that only locust bushes grow there.

MR. MAYOR, save the children, big and little, by forbidding the use of fireworks and all kinds of explosives on the streets on Wednesday next.

THOSE merchants who refuse to handle the dangerous fireworks that destroy the eyes and limbs and lives of innocent children, should be compensated by a liberal patronage in other directions.

ENTERPRISING dealers are advertising a "Harmless Pistol." It was General SHERIDAN who said that the only good Indian was a dead Indian; and so the only harmless pistol is a feather duster.

THE exposures brought about by the murder of Architect WHITE by millionaire THAW only serve to emphasize the estimate placed upon New York's 400 by Editor HENRY WATKINSON a few years ago. Modern "High Society" in New York—and pretty generally in all other places—is rotten to the core, morally speaking.

The Washington correspondent of The Times-Star says Senator McLAURIN of Mississippi was making a "speech, and during his remarks he had occasion to mention Mr. BRYAN's name. He gave him his full name and hesitated for a minute after uttering it before continuing his remarks. Just at the pause Senator BARRY of Arkansas, who was in the Democratic cloak-room, wanted a Senate page, and the custom in the Senate, when a Senator desires to call a page, is to clap his hands together to attract the boy's attention. Just as Mr. McLAURIN had said WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN and paused, Senator BARRY put his head through the cloak-room door and loudly clapped his hands for a page, but it filled in the pause after BRYAN's name so completely that even the Senator turned around to see who was applauding the "Peerless Leader's" name. The people in the gallery, not knowing the habit of calling Senate pages, thought, of course, some one was applauding the mention of Mr. BRYAN.

A WOLF STORY.

Philadelphia Ledger.

A red-faced man was holding the attention of a little group with some wonderful recitals.

"The most exciting chase I ever had," he said, "happened a few years ago in Russia. One night, when sleighing about ten miles from my destination, I discovered to my intense horror that I was being followed by a pack of wolves. I fired blindly into the pack, killing one of the brutes, and to my delight saw the others stop to devour it. After doing this, however, they still came on. I kept on repeating the dose, with the same result, and each occasion gave me an opportunity to whip up my horses. Finally there was only one wolf left, yet on it came, with its fierce eyes glaring in anticipation of a good, hot supper."

Here the man who had been sitting in the corner burst forth into a fit of laughter.

"Why, man," said he, "by your way of reckoning, that last wolf must have had the rest of the pack inside him!"

"Ah!" said the red-faced man without a tremor, "now I remember it did wobble a bit."

The management of the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati Packet Company has decided to continue the operations of its boats as long as the water lasts in the upper river. This plan will not be abandoned until fly time arrives. There is every reason to hope that rain will come in such quantities that navigation for packets will run up into the month of August.

WORKED ALL RIGHT

The New Fire Nozzle Attachment Proves a Success

The announcement in the papers that the Fire Department would again test the new appliance for extinguishing fires at the foot of Sutton street yesterday evening at 7 o'clock attracted several hundred people to witness the test.
The new invention was put through all the gaits and acted admirably in every instance.
The spraying device and the shut off at the fireplug caught the crowd, while an expression of approval of all its essential parts was general.
Tom Lalley manipulated the works at the fireplug as one who knew his business, and the result was there was no bursting of hose or knocking nozzlemen in the air as was the case on a previous test.
It is quite likely that Council will provide each fire company with one.

STATE COLLEGE of Kentucky, Lexington, Ky.

The Agricultural and Mechanical (State College) of Kentucky offers the following courses of study, viz: Agricultural, Chemical, Biological, Mechanical, Physical, Normal School, Classical, Mechanical Engineering, Civil Engineering, Mining Engineering, each of which extends over four years and leads to a master's degree. Each course of study is organized under a separate faculty. The general faculty numbers nearly fifty Professors and Instructors.
County appoints resident tuition, room rent in dormitories, fuel and light, and if they remain ten months traveling expenses.
The laboratories and museums are large, well equipped, comprehensive and modern. Military tactics and science are fully provided for as required by Congress.
Graduates from the general courses of study readily find excellent positions and liberal remuneration. The demand is largely in excess of the ability of the College to supply. The matriculation for the last year was, including summer school, 815.

Specialists with the necessary number of assistants have charge of each department of natural science. Summer schools are provided for pedagogy, engineering and instruction in science and arts.

The State College of Kentucky is the only institution in the Commonwealth doing, in any proper sense, university work.

The completion of the College Home for Young Women provides facilities for good board and lodging. It is well equipped with all modern conveniences, including bathrooms and a room for physical culture. It is heated by steam and lighted by electricity.

An opportunity is thus afforded to them of a thorough education in classical, modern languages, literature, science, mathematics, logic, metaphysics, history and political economy. No other institution in the state offers advantages for the education of women at all comparable to those offered by the State College of Kentucky.
A new Library Building will, through the generosity of Mr. Andrew Carnegie, be erected during the next college year.
The Normal Department will be on a better footing than ever before. Last year's largely increased attendance, with the unprecedented growth of the Summer Normal School, both indicate that an era of prosperity is dawning for the State College of Kentucky.
For catalogues, method of obtaining appointments, information regarding courses of study and terms of admission, apply to JAMES R. PATTERSON, PH.D., LL.D., or to D. C. Frazer, Business Agent, Lexington, Ky.
